CHARLEY WILLEY

RACHAEL SMITH

NORM HULL

WELCOME TO THE 57th ANNUAL IASC STATE CONVENTION

All right, you've heard about it all year long, the IASC State Convention. After months of planning, sending out thousands of letters, and millions of phone calls, it is finally here. Some of you have traveled hours to get to the Bismarck Hotel in downtown Chicago and others just minutes. So the next question is...what now??? Well IASC members, you better be prepared (yes prepared) because the next three days are going to be full of nothing but meeting others, sharing ideas and learning, but most of all.....full of fun! Here is an overview of some of the people, places and things you will be encountering in the next few days.

SPEAKERS

The IASC Executive Board, in keeping with its tradition of presenting excellent speakers, is proud to introduce this year's keynote speakers, Charley Willey, Rachael Smith and Norm Hull.

To kick off the convention on Thursday night, Charley Willey will speak on human relations. Known as a "Serious Humorist", Charley Willey is definitely a change of pace in motivational speaking. Along with being a 35-year veteran in the demanding field of public speaking, Willey has also been a minister for 26 years and 7 years on daily radio and television. He is a member of the National Speakers Association where he received the Council of Peers Award of Excellence. Charley Willey loves people and is a champion in believing that people can laugh and learn at the same time.

On Friday morning delegates will be awakened by Rachael Smith, one of the IASC'S very own. As former 1987-88

Reporter-Editor of the IASC, today Rachael is a junior at Illinois College in Jacksonville, Illinois, studying secondary education and English. Rachael still plays an active role in the IASC by staffing at the Millikin Summer Workshop and speaking at district functions. Having returned from a tour of the Soviet Union in January, Rachael plans to go to Africa next summer to study their educational systems. In the future, Rachael would like to do motivational speaking and work with young people.

On Friday evening, the IASC will have the pleasure of hearing Norm Hull, an International Youth Leadership Consultant and workshop leader. When it comes to student council and leadership experience, Norm Hull is no stranger. Norm's leadership background includes junior and senior high school student body president and leadership camp director for the California Association of Student Councils. Norm Hull enthusiastically encourages others to reach their goals, to develop personal responsibility, and to go out and make a positive difference...at school...at home...in the community...and in the real world!

GENERAL SESSIONS

The opening general session will be held on Thursday night. There will be welcoming remarks, convention updates and committee reports. Some of the highlights will be a key speaker, along with candidates who are running for IASC offices, and campaign speeches.

The second and third general sessions will be held on Friday morning and afternoon. Here there will be another key speaker, election of candidates (possibly a second ballot) and business reports. These are very interesting meetings that your council won't want to miss. Amendments and resolutions to the IASC Constitution will be voted on at these sessions.

The fourth general session will top off the outstanding three days. Winners of scholarships will be announced. A challenge for next year will be presented to all student council members. And, a comedy group will entertain the group. The general session will be adjourned by the newly elected 1991-92 President of the IASC.

LEARNING & SHARING IDEAS

There are many ways for you to gain new ideas and insights for you and your council during the state convention. There are discussion groups, the Hall of Ideas, project schools, and even an Exhibitors Hall!

Where will you hear someone speak about such subjects as student council apathy, parliamentary procedure, and eliminating stress? Only at discussion groups presented by the finest leaders in Illinois! During the course of the convention, there will be three discussion group sessions for you to attend. In these groups you will get to voice your opinion and listen to other student leaders' thoughts on student council issues. There will be a variety of subjects from which to choose. Tickets will be distributed to each school for the discussion groups. Discussion groups are the backbone to your learning experience at the state convention. They are definitely something that you won't want to miss!

In the Walnut Room there will be the Hall of Ideas and project schools. Don't miss this one! Here you can walk around and view displays on successful student council projects. You will also be able to pick up some literature on topics such as themes for dances, moneymakers, parades, and more. So what are you waiting for, make your trip the the Hall of Ideas right now!!!!

Another "must see" is the Exhibitors Hall! Here you can speak with professional exhibitors about moneymaker ideas that could be very beneficial to your council. You can also take a look at the latest services that are available to high school student councils. Mark a spot in your schedule and stop in the Exhibitors Hall...you will be glad that you did!

FOR THE ADVISORS

Don't think that we left you out, advisors! There are many activities planned for you as well. Starting with an Advisors Swap Shop on Thursday night, you have an opportunity to meet and discuss advisor involvement topics with your peers while enjoying refreshments. On Friday morning, there will be a breakfast for advisors followed by a business meeting. A workshop is also planned for you during Discussion Group II. We hope that you will make the most of these activities planned for you. Their purpose is to give you some new ideas to take home! Last, but not least, there is something new for all advisors this year. There will be an information room set up, the first day at the convention, to answer questions about convention activities.

ENTERTAINMENT

Last, but not least, your three day stay at the state convention won't be all work and no play. There are many social events planned for you! On Thursday night, delegates will be able to relax and enjoy a dance while making new friends and visiting with old ones. On Friday, the new IASC officers will be installed. Delegates can show off their "latest fashions" by dressing up for this semi-formal banquet. Yet another dance will end the night with music from Hot Mix Entertainment. For those who wish to take a break from dancing, there will also be a slide show presented on Friday night entitled "A Year in the Life in the IASC". The presentation highlights the past year of the IASC and its thirteen districts. On Saturday morning, WAVELENGTH, a Chicago comedy troupe, will perform at the final general session.

REMEMBER: THE NEXT THREE DAYS ARE WHAT YOU MAKE OF THEM. SO COME ON IASC, LET'S MAKE THIS THE BEST CONVENTION YET!!!

DON'T FORGET DISTRICT MEETINGS ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON 3:00 — 3:45 P.M.

FAREWELL FROM YOUR 1990 -

BRIAN HOLTZ
IASC PRESIDENT

Four years ago I attended my first state convention and I made it my goal to be the president of the Illinois Association of Student Councils. Last year all of you gave me the opportunity to serve as your president. Thank you to all of you who gave me that opportunity to fulfill my dream.

As most of you are aware I was the only male student on the board this year. Surviving the year with six ladies was a big accomplishment in itself. I have teased each one of you all year but I really am glad I got the opportunity to work with each one of you. Allyson, I admire your dedication and hard work you put into the IASC. I will always envy your ability to talk fast and make friends. Kim, you are one of my best friends. Hey, there is no need to stress out about everything, you got it all done and you did it like no other person. Julie, thanks for keeping the books straight. Susie, thanks for all of your innovative ideas, you made new things happen in the IASC. Anjanette, congrats in pulling off the convention. Thanks to all of you ladies (notice you aren't gals anymore) for a memorable year. I love you!

The IASC could not function without all of the advisors who devote their time and energy into the IASC. My advisor, Miss Wick, is a special lady who has helped me so much this year. Thank you for all of your help and little words of encouragement when I needed them. I hope the experience has been as rewarding for you as it has been for me. Hank Clark you are a man I admire. Thank you for all of the help in preparing for meetings. Zum thanks for showing me the way. You have been like a father to me. I will never be able to thank you enough for all of the things you have done for me. Thank you so much for the knowledge you have given me. I will always cherish our times spent together. Gary you are my idol. To all of the advisors on the board thank you for all of your help this past year.

A special thanks goes to all of you I met this past year. The IASC creates friendships that last a lifetime. I can't say good bye without thanking Ian, Wayne, Mark, Soo, and the rest of you. I would also like to thank my high school staff—Bill, Carey, Ms. Duffy, Mr. Rogers, and the rest of the gang.

It is time again for the current IASC board to step aside and allow another set of students to take over. The knowledge I have gained from this past year will last me a lifetime. Thank you for the memories and opportunities. I wish you all the best of luck in all that you do. Remember we are the leaders of tomorrow and only we can make a difference.

ALLYSON LAUGHLIN
IASC FIRST VICE PRESIDENT

Geez, it is still 44 days until convention and I am already writing a farewell! Believe me, saying farewell to this organization is the last thing on my mind at this time. During honor delegate selection time, I never thought this year would end! As I reflect on my past year as First Vice-President in preparation to sum it up for you, a tear appropriately comes to my eye. This tear, this single tear drop, is a perfect summary.

Although it is small, it carries in itself the love, friendships, and memories of the IASC. It represents times when I was able to share my grief with a fellow friend. It represents the bonds that I've made with people that will never be broken. It represents times where I was so stressed and busy that I didn't know what to do except cry, but with the love of my fellow board members, I made it through every time. It represents the many times where I laughed so hard that a tear came down my cheek. It represents growth, and a time of farewell.

At the end of the convention, I will shed a final tear for the IASC. This tear will be for the temporary separation from this organization and the friends and joys it has given me. It will be a tear of joy because I know that the separation is only temporary—I will keep all the IASC has given to me forever and am honored with the opportunity to experience yet another of the many excellent times that I have had.

To the North Central District, I'll miss you and your excellence. Thank you for the knowledge. To Auburn—you are my pride. I could never have wished for anything better. Thanks for putting up with me! Liz, Liz, Tara, Sam, Jenny, and Amy—you've saved me many times. I'm proud to have you as my "loved ones"! To my advisors—thank you, thank you, thank you! I cherish not only your advice but your eternal friendship. Especially my dad—when I needed an advisor he's always been there, for state and for life. Thanks pops!

To my family—thanks for putting up with the stressed-out moods. (There were quite a few this year!) To Ed—no matter how many times you tell me to "shut-up", I will always love ya and cherish all that you have given me. To Papa Hank—I love ya Hank! You'll always be important to me as a role model and friend. Thanks for all!

Finally to Brian, Kim, Susie, Robyn,

1991 IASC EXECUTIVE BOARD

Anjanette, and Julie- thanks for being my family, my friends and my support. I love you guys so much I am relieved with the knowledge that we'll always stay close.....(Hey IASC, wanna hear a scary thought? Stash and I are going to college together next year! Watch out ISU!)

Farewell IASC—take care, prosper always, I love you and wish the best of tears for you!

KIM STASH
IASC SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT

It seems like it was just yesterday that I was a scared little freshman taking my first step into the "door of the IASC". I remember walking into East Bay Camp and thinking: "Oh no, what am I getting myself into?" But then I listened to Ed Phelps' words of wisdom...(If I could take just one of you for 4 years, I could make you into a great leader.) Well that's exactly what he did. Little does he know it, but Ed taught me to believe in myself, which is what gave me the courage to run for a state office. (Thanks Ed!)

Then there is thanks to all of you, my dream came true. I was elected as Second Vice-President of the IASC. Wow! What a year it has been! Staffing summer workshops, attending Nationals, visiting the districts, and all of the other activities I've done, has made being a state officer even greater. The friends I have made from attending these places are ones I will never forget. To Shara, Charity, Ian, Bonnie, Scott, Lynn, and Soo, you guys are the greatest friends I could ever ask for. All of the good times we've had together will remain in my heart forever. Thanks for everything.

Hank and Faith Clark (my adopted mom and dad). Your continuous support and advice on how to deal with "womanizers" will never be forgotten. I love you both.

The advisors of the IASC board, I could have never made it this year without you. Mark, Zum, Gary, Gaylord, and Jerry, thanks for letting me drive you nuts. (Especially at Region V.) It's been great picking on you guys. You haven't seen the last of the "Loner Sisters".

My advisor, Mr. Brown, you have been the greatest advisor a gal could ever ask for. You're not only my friend, you're my strength. You've taught me to never give up. Thank you so much for everything. You're the best!

Alas, the hardest part of all, the IASC Executive Board. Holtz, we've been through so much together. No matter how rough things got, you were always there for me. I can't tell you how much that means to me. You are my best friend, let's never lose site of that. Suz, through all the laughs, road trips, and even the tears, it's been great. Your friendship means the world to me. Don't forget the good times. (Wanna dance? -ha,ha!) Robyn, you've truly been an inspiration to me. Thanks for being such an awesome listener! I love ya! Anjanette, you always kept me laughing, no matter what. It's been great listening to all your "manizing" stories. Stay sweet! Julie, rooming with you at Nationals was a blast. Don't forget all the fun times. Good luck in the future. Allyson, my loner sister, you never cease to amaze me. We've been through it all together, you truly are my closest and craziest friend in the whole wide world. We are going to have a blast together an ISU next year! Thanks for the laughs, the tears, the slaphappiness, and understanding.

This has truly been the greatest year of my life. I will never forget the people who made it possible. The IASC has earned a place in my heart that can never be replaced. Until we meet again IASC, farewell. I love you all.

ROBYN PHELPS
IASC SECRETARY

Well IASC, the time has very quickly come for me to say goodbye. What an incredible year! Even though it has been the most stressful and busy of my life, I wouldn't change it one bit. The friends that I have made and experiences I have had are priceless to me.

Of course, there are many people I need to thank for making this year such a memorable one to me. First of all, I would like to thank the awesome IASC board. I love each and every one of you very much, and it has truly been a pleasure to work with you all. Brian, Allyson, Kim, Julie, Susie and Anjanette, there will never be another board quite like us. Thanks for everything. Next, I must thank my student council at home in Collinsville. You are all so special to me, and I appreciate everything that you have done for me. You all make me very proud to be from the CHS Student Council.

Next, I must thank my family. Even though they will be unable to be at the state convention, their support is always with me. Mom, Dad, Scott and Brent, I would not be where I am without you. Thanks so much for all of your help with my mailings and everything else. I appreciate it more than I will ever be able to say.

There are several individuals I would like to single out for helping me through this year in their own special ways. First, my boyfriend Jamie. I couldn't ask for anyone better. Thank you for always understanding when I was swamped with the IASC and just didn't have enough time for you. I appreciate all of your help and support when the going got rough and tiring.

The next person—or sister to me—is Soo Min Cho (or Chomin). Ever since 7th grade, you've always been there for me. Never forget our wonderful KDSC memories and many, many more. Soo, I wish I could tell you how much you mean to me. Thank you.

I cannot leave without thanking the man who helped make me IASC Secretary. My advisor/best friend Mr. Gary Clark is without a doubt the best person I know. No one could ever imagine just how close we are. I don't think an advisor and a student could be closer. Mr. Clark, words could never express the appreciation I want to show you. I would not be nearly as successful if it weren't for you. Your support, encouragement, advice, and love will never be forgotten. Thank you.

Finally, to all of the wonderful friends I have made. To my nationals and summer workshop friends—you made this year so special for me. Thank you for all the wonderful memories. You all mean the world to me.

For those of you who still have some years left in the IASC, make them special. I hope that you can have half of the experience that I have had. Good luck, and thank you for everything, IASC. Goodbye.

JULIE VOGEL
IASC TREASURER

A year ago I decided to take on the challenge of leadership. I decided to run for the IASC state board. While attending the National Conference following that election, I bought a tee-shirt for my advisor. It said, "Life is a mountain, not a beach" and pictured the rocky mountains in the background. I thought of that slogan often during my year as your treasurer.

Leadership is not the peaceful and serene beach where many sit and do nothing but receive the sun's rays. Leadership is a mountain climbing experience—sometimes lonely, sometimes requiring teamwork to overcome obstacles, but it involves you totally in order to survive.

Another idea from that tee-shirt was that the mountain was not always a climbing up experience. There are smaller peaks and hidden valleys behind them before you reach the summit, which is the goal you are reaching for. My year as treasurer was like that mountain climbing with its peaks and valleys, but through it all, it helped me to gain the experience to go for the summit.

I wish the mountain for all of you and the endurance and faith to persist to the top.

SUSIE MORRIS
IASC REPORTER-EDITOR

Here it is, late at night and I am sitting here trying to think of something, just something, to say for my farewell. I just cannot seem to find the words to say good bye to something that has been such a significant part of my high school career. What is there to say that has not been said already? For the past couple of hours, I have stared at a blank computer screen and looked for the words that would say goodbye for me, but nothing happened. Then finally, I looked in a place and found all of the words that I ever needed...in my heart.

I have decided not to say goodbye to the IASC because I have found that it is not possible. When a person becomes involved with the IASC, it becomes a part of that person...for life. The skills that are learned are used time and time again. The experiences prepares one to deal with anything that comes along. All those special memories that stay locked up in a corner of the mind seem to come forward when everything else in the world is wrong. Most importantly, the friends, some of the neatest people one will ever meet in the whole world, become family.

To my IASC family—Brian, Allyson, Kim, Robyn, Julie and Anjanette—I just want you all to know that you are six incredibly talented and special people. I am glad that we were brought together as a board. I wouldn't have had it any other way. Hank, thank you for answering my millions of questions. You helped me out of many jams. Mr. White, my super-organized advisor, no matter how mad we ever got at each other we would burst out laughing, right in the middle of a heated argument. Thank you for the freedom you gave me to be creative. (Please don't ever stop laughing.)

Juan Thomas (who would kill me if I left him out), thank you for letting me know that I was someone special. To Soo-Soo, I could never find a friend in anyone else as I have found in you. You have taught me so much, thank you for everything. Mark, Lara, Jill, Sharon, Wayne, Ian, and Jen C., you are people that I will remember throughout my whole life, even when I am old and sitting in a rocking chair. Thank you for the memories. You guys are the greatest!

Last, but not least, I cannot leave out my mom and dad. Dad, whenever you said that I could do something when I said that I couldn't, I ended up being able to do it. Thank you for believing in me when I didn't. To Mom, my roomie. If someone asked me who has influenced me the most in my life, my answer would be, without a doubt, you. You are one of my best friends as well as my mom. I do not know what I would do without you. I love you both so much...thank you for your support in everything that I do.

Instead of saying goodbye, I am going to say "hello" (yes, "hello"). I am saying hello to the new life that I am about to begin. Hello to new friends. Hello to new challenges. Hello to new accomplishments. But as I say hello to my new life, I am taking part of the old experiences with me. That old part of me that is the IASC, because I am definitely going to need it. So, hello to the new IASC officers too. I can only hope that you will let the IASC grow to be a part of you as I have in these past four years.

Hello world! Here comes Susie Morris!

ANJANETTE NORWOOD
IASC CONVENTION SECRETARY

Wow! What a year, it came and went so fast. This year has truly been an exciting one for being your IASC Convention Secretary. I've met some wonderful people—people who will be my friends for a lifetime. By traveling to the many workshops and districts, I've truly seen "the student leaders", (who are) the key to the 21st century.

Hosting this year's 57th annual state convention has indeed been a privilege. I've learned to meet deadlines, be organized and most of all, patient. The experience that the IASC has given me will be something I won't ever forget.

To the executive board, what can I say? You guys have truly been like a family to me. Brian, Allyson, Kim, Robyn, Susie and Julie, thanks for everything.

There are so many people that I want to thank. First of all I want to thank Linda Pierzchalski for giving me this opportunity of being in charge of such an event. Secondly, I would like to thank Nancy Makowski who has helped so much with organizing and arranging this convention. I also want to thank my council for putting up with me through this whole year. Thanks you guys. Finally, I would like to thank all of you who make the IASC possible. Thanks for a great year and a most exciting convention.

THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES.

A NOTE FROM THE EDITOR...

I would like to extend a big thank you to all of you who took the time to fill out a survey for the "Issue" of the Issue column. It is you who made the column such a success. There would not have been such a column without your help.

I would also like to thank all of you who "SENT IT IN" and wrote articles for the Reporter. You all wrote some excellent articles this year and made my job, as editor, so much easier!

I can only hope that you will all remain active in the IASC in the future and take advantage of the thousands of opportunities that it has to offer!

THANKS AGAIN!!!!
SUSIE MORRIS

So You've Gotten Yourself Elected ...What Happens Now???

You just reached that goal you made for yourself this year. You've made campaign buttons, posters and speeches, and you have just been elected to student council. "What should I do next?", you ask yourself. The steps you take can determine the outcome of your year as a leader.

Here are three simple steps to keep in mind as you decide to "make your next move".

Step 1: Write out a list of goals you would like to accomplish for both yourself and your council. Think about ideas you would like to introduce to your council and what you would like to learn from your newly-elected office. Ask yourself, "What can I do to make my office or council more efficient than last year?" Put this list in a special place. Review it periodically to remind yourself of what you have set out to do.

Step 2: Get out your calendar and begin to plan your activities for the upcoming year. Buy yourself a personal notebook to enter important dates and reminders and keep it with you. Try to set timetables and deadlines for yourself and your council when things need to be done. You will also need to get a copy of your school calendar to take a look at the dates of other school activities to avoid conflicts. After your activity dates are set and approved, make out a large master calendar for your council so that they can see what events are coming up and the deadlines for those events.

Step 3: Meet with your advisors and/or administration to discuss the upcoming year for your council. Tell them of your plans, goals and new ideas that you would like to accomplish in your council. By making this final step, not only will they know that you are prepared and organized, but you will be starting a positive relationship with your advisors and/or administration—something that will benefit you throughout the year.

By making goals, setting up a calendar, and meeting with your advisors and/or administration, you have just organized the next year for yourself. The step that you take after the first three is to follow through with what you have planned. Coming into any new student council role is never easy. By planning your first steps wisely, you will find yourself on your way to your best year ever in student council!
